

Winning Streak in the US Market

EIK amphibious excavator continues to win new customers over the last few months. Our patented design is simply refreshing and it is fast gaining acceptance in this market where new technologies and innovations trump over the conservative.

Entry To Japan Market

We are delighted that EIK amphibious excavator has successfully entered the Japanese market, a laudable new milestone indeed. It is a common knowledge that the Japanese market is undoubtedly the hardest to gain entry to. The country has a reputation of being meticulous from anything to everything, but we have done it ! That is what it matters the most.

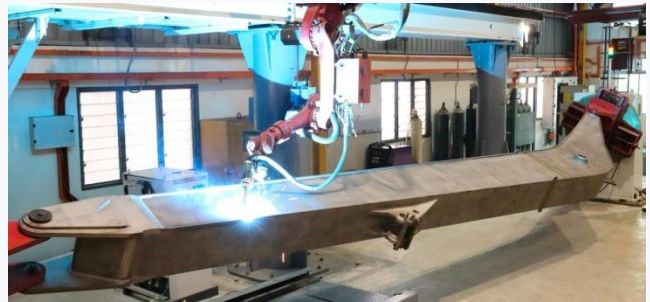

"8000 hours and Still Going Strong" Andy H

Nothing is more rewarding than seeing a happy customer that their investment has paid off more than expected. We designed and built a 20m long reach boom for Hyundai R380 machine few years ago. Till to date, the long reach has clocked more than 8000 hours, and still going on strong.

The long reach boom has worked on various projects, ranging from dredging, ditch cleaning, rock handling, etc.

In EIK, nothing stood still, and nothing ever satisfy our appetite to better ourselves. We relentlessly looking for improvement ranging from product design to operational efficiency. The investment in robotic welding machine is a clear testament of our commitment to quality.

WE BUILD WITH PRIDE, YOU USE WITH TRUST.
